Safety and Consulting Services

Safety training is something every company needs. We offer several of onsite services that can help keep your entire staff safe on the job. Our in-house Safety Specialist is here for you and can provide assistance as needed.

Safety and Consulting Services

When it comes to making your workplace safe, turn to Mars Supply. We provide free training and consulting services that compliment our safety equipment offerings— these courses address hazard assessment, fall protection, forklift training, confined space entry, respiratory fit testing, LO/TO and Right-To-Know, just to name a few.

Mars Supply has been a member of both the Minnesota Safety Council and the National Safety Council for many years. This provides access to an abundance of resources that we like to share with our customers. If you need assistance with any form of safety training, please contact us to inquire about specific services offered at Mars Supply.
